MARION BOARD TO LET FAIR DATES STAND

Event Here Will Be Held, Is Decision After State Meeting.

The Marion county fair, set for Sept. 1-4, will be held, the fair board announced today, following a meeting of four members yesterday with the Ohio State Fair Managers association in Columbus.

The association, debating a federal plea to conserve motor vehicle tires by discontinuing fairs for the duration, adopted a resolution "favoring the continuance of all fairs where it will not handicap the war effort."

Lively Discussion

The vote, 47-6, but later made unanimous, climaxed a spirited two-hour session during which association President Ralph Haines of Dayton and former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati spoke against demands for ignoring the suspension plea of Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, according to an Associated Press account of the meeting.

Asserting that the association might be accused of lack of patriotism, Cooper said "There never has been a more serious moment for the future of our fairs."

Cooper and Haines said the association's executive committee had sought in vain to have Eastman withdraw his request and that a telegram to Agriculture Secretary Claude E. Wickard brought the reply that Wickard was in accord with Eastman's view.

Other Events Cited

A number of speakers expressed the conviction that fairs should be permitted to operate so long as baseball games, horse races and circuses continue.

To a suggestion that continuing fairs might precipitate gasoline rationing in Ohio, A. B. McDaniel of Lucas county asserted "We'll get gas rationing before July is over after the $5 federal tax is collected for each automobile."

The Ohio State fair held in Columbus annually has been cancelled for the duration and the grounds leased to the army.

At a meeting Saturday, the Marion county board went on record as favoring going ahead with the local plans.

It was the concensus of the board members that the Marion county fair attendance is drawn from a radius of only 15 miles and that since all commitments such as racing schedules, amusements and concessions have been made, the board should carry out its plans for the 1942 fair.

Attending the meeting yesterday from the Marion board were Charles Philbrook, president, William Rhoads, vice president, E. H. Fetter and John Dietsch.

Camp Zaleski also will be the training place for the Kenton company and units from eight other cities from July 26 to Aug.

Bucyrus and Mansfield guardsmen are among those from 10 cities to take training from July 19 to 25 at Camp Hocking in Hocking county.

Co. H Induction Plans Under Way

Physical examinations of men who will form Co. H of the Ohio State Guard are expected to be completed tonight, Carl Ebert, commanding officer, said today. Sixty of the 150 men of Marion cities who signed up for the new State Guard unit passed physical examinations Sunday.

In the meantime, plans are going forward for the mass induction ceremony next Tuesday night at 7:15 at the Harding stadium.

The occasion will be one of the few times Marion will have the opportunity of seeing a military company started as a unit, those in charge said today. The entire company was formed in one evening from men of the cities.

Even White House Rubber Needed

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes apparently believes that rubber is where you find it, even if it's in the White House. During a visit to the Chief Executive's mansion he spied this 75-pound rubber mat inside the entrance. All Marion Defense Units Called for Mobilization

U. S. Army Officers To Check Results of Full-Scale Muster Set for Tomorrow Night.

A full-scale mobilization of all units of Marion's huge civilian defense organization will be held Wednesday evening.

When the mobilization signals are sounded, some 1,200 to 1,500 Marion men and women and the boys and girls of the Scout units helping in the civilian defense program are to swing into action for the biggest mobilization effort to date.

Each unit will go into action just as it would if Marion were hit by a war emergency. For approximately an hour they will remain on duty while an inspection program is carried out to detect weaknesses in the present setup and to chart the way for future improvements.

Preparatory Action

It will be a major step toward preparing Marion's civilian defense workers for a blackout, which officials hope to stage some time in the future. The mobilization machinery must be working smoothly before a blackout and its attendant difficulties can be attempted, leaders pointed out.

A group of army officers located in Marion in connection with the Scioto Ordnance Plant has been asked to serve as an inspection party tomorrow night. Details of their inspection plans were being worked out today. They have been especially requested by W. R. Martin, civilian defense coordinator, to look for weaknesses and flaws. He emphasized that the mobilization and inspection are not being staged to seek a "pat on the back" for the work that has been done by hundreds of volunteers but solely to chart the way for improvements in the civilian defense program.

Will Hear Reports

Immediately after the all clear signal has been sounded, leaders of each civilian defense unit will be called into a conference at a place to be announced tomorrow and there they will hear the reports of the reviewing officers.

The city's 600 air raid wardens probably will be the biggest single unit in the mobilization. The auxiliary fire and police units, totaling approximately 300, represent another large group. Other units include the various medical units which will man scattered first aid stations, the motorcycle corps, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, road repair crews, decontamination squads, public utilities workers and the civilian defense staff of officers.

BRITISH SHIFT COMMAND OF AFRICAN ARMY

Auchinleck Replaces Ritchie as Chief of Forces Now Fighting in Egypt.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 30 — Prime Minister Churchill announced today General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, commander in chief of British forces in the Middle East had taken command of the British eighth army in North Africa on June 25, superseding Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie.

Ritchie had commanded the desert army since last Dec. 11 when he took over from Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham.

Churchill, who spoke on his first appearance in the house of commons after his return from the United States, was received tumultuously in the chamber.

Faces Challenge

The prime minister, who faces a challenge to his war leadership, gave the house no accounting of his conference with President Roosevelt.

Declining to allow publication of the Reports of General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief in India, on the losses of Malaya and Singapore, the prime minister said they "clearly would cause a great deal of ill-will throughout the British empire."

Richie's removal did not alter the ultimate control of Britain's forces in the Mediterranean area since Auchinleck already was commander-in-chief.

British observers expressed belief that Auchinleck was dissatisfied with conduct of the campaign in the field, where Ritchie was in charge, while he presumably operated from headquarters in the rear.

Was Wavell's Successor

Auchinleck, who was Wavell's successor in the Middle East, went to the front last November after another big British offensive had bogged down. It was then that Ritchie replaced Cunningham.

Now Auchinleck goes under similar circumstances. Again, reverses set in for Britain's desert fighters after confident reports from North Africa had led the public to believe the campaign was developing favorably.

U.S. CLOSES BOOKS ON ITS COSTLIEST YEAR

12-Month Expenses Exceed Entire World War Bill.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Having spent in 12 months more than the entire cost of the first World war, the treasury closed books today on the costliest fiscal year in its history.

It was a temporary record, though, because the budget for the new fiscal year beginning tomorrow is more than double the old year's.

Exact figures won't be available for a few days, but preliminary tabulations showed that in the last year the treasury spent $26,000,000,000 for direct war purposes plus enough more for other governmental activities (some of which were related to the war) to make an expenditures total of $32,500,000,000.

The war figure compared with an official computation that the direct cost of the first World war to the United States, from the time of its entry in 1917 until the peace treaty was ratified in 1921, was $25,729,000,000. Pensions, adjusted compensation, and other items since then would add many more billions to this figure.

The previous one year spending record (for all purposes) was $18,522,000,000 in the 12 months which ended June 30, 1919—the last year of the first World war. Last year's total was more than [illegible] as much as the $12,710,000,000 spent in the preceding year.

But starting tomorrow, the year's bill, as estimated by Budget Director Harold D. Smith, will be $73,[illegible],000,000, including $67,000,000,000 for direct war purposes.

Mid-1942 May Be Marked in History as Time Allies Began To Win War

(Mid-year is a time of stock taking. Mid-1942 is one of the most momentous in America's history. Wars are won today by gearing the entire national economy to all-out effort. In the following article, Claude A. Jagger, general financial editor of The Associated Press and Wide World, tells how far we have come, points to the steep road ahead.)

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

NEW YORK, June 30 — (Wide World)— Mid-1942 may go down in history as the time when the United Nations definitely began to win the war.

Historians, doubtless, will say there was little on the surface to show it at the time. American troops had participated in no great offensive battle. Axis forces were in Egypt, striking for Suez, and Hitler was once more delivering sledge-hammer blows at the Russian defenses.

Bitter struggle and long and severe sacrifice still lay ahead for the United Nations.

But the salient basic fact was that the productive power of the United States had at long last been harnessed for war.

Things had happened after Pearl Harbor to an arms effort which had creaked and groaned with fits and starts, shifts and changes, ever since President Roosevelt on May 16, 1940, had called for an air force of 50,000 planes, something then widely called fantastic.

Two Years Later

It was two years and three days later, on last May 19, that War Production Chief Nelson announced the United Nation's war production is now greater than the axis in every category. Three weeks ago, he was able to make the flat assertion that the United States will make 60,000 airplanes in 1942 alone, many more than that in 1943.

Clearly, production is rolling in mid-1942, but at least four problems of supreme urgency remain.

First is the task of bringing our striking force to bear against the enemy, across thousands of miles of oceans. Submarines have been sinking ships faster than they were being launched, but shipbuilding is accelerating rapidly.

Second, now that the production machine is rolling, is the enormous task of finding the steel, aluminum, copper, rubber and chemicals to feed it. The spotlight has shifted, said Nelson, "from manufacturing facilities to raw materials." Use of metals for civilian uses from new dishpans to bed springs has been stopped, and the day when iron fences, even brass ash trays, would be melted down seemed not far away.

Third Task Financial

Third, is the task of cutting financial policies and controls to cope with a $200,000,000,000 war effort and avoid the economic disaster of inflation. While spending these huge sums the government must take back as much as possible in taxes, and through borrowing from the public what it can be persuaded not to spend. It must ration scarce materials and control prices. Price Administrator Henderson put a ceiling on most prices in May. A few things are already rationed. Congress is still wrestling with a new tax bill.

The fourth, and most vital, is the problem of manpower. When war production reaches its peak, and the armed forces are built up to maximum strength, many millions will have changed their jobs and homes, and much work formerly deemed essential will not be done. The registration of all males from 18 to 65 supplies not only information for selective service but will supply the war manpower commission with a detailed index of skills.

The first half of 1942 has seen rationing of automobiles, tires, sugar, bicycles, typewriters, and in part of the country, gasoline, has only moderately affected everyday life as yet.

But this is only the first impact of the war upon the American economy—there's more coming.

WED IN BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS, June 30—Rev. H. H. Glick performed the single ring ceremony Saturday which united in marriage Miss Edna Kerr, daughter of Mrs. Glenn Kerr and Charles Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gilbert of Lakewood, O. War's Shadow Crosses the Pyramids

PARATROOP TARGET?—Here's Alexandria, Egypt's great Mediterranean port. It may become a battleground if the Nazis stab deeper into Egypt; British say it's a likely spot for the landing of German parachute troops from Crete.

Wide World Features

The oldest nation on earth is a key once more to the plans of warring powers.

Egypt, in other words, is caught in the middle even as it was in the days of the Roman empire, of the Arabian thrust for power, of Napoleon's dream of world domination.

It has supreme strategic importance, sitting as it does on the land bridge that binds Europe, Asia and Africa, and separates the Mediterranean from the Red Sea—or more broadly, that divides the Atlantic from the Indian ocean.

Yet Egypt is no mere strategic counter. In its own right it is a country of commercial importance, a nation with vast traditions, a land peopled by a hardy, individualistic race.

Just about this time of year—unless the imminence of war has crowded out the ancient ceremony—a crier parades through Egypt's capital city of Cairo, singing out the stage of the rising Nile river. The ceremony continues for weeks, while the river rises to its peak, then recedes, leaving added fertility, and moisture in the area into which it has overflowed.

Nile All-Important

Cairo watches the Nile because it's the lifeline that makes Egypt possible—third among cotton producers of the world—and makes Alexandria, with its 4,000 ship handlings a year, one of the great ports of the world.

In a country three times the size of Great Britain, the fertile Nile Delta and the narrow strip of land along the river's banks support a population of 16,000,000. More than 90 per cent of Egypt is desert—rolling acres of sand broken only by an occasional oasis.

Alexandria—jittery since the outbreak of the war because of its strategic location on the Mediterranean—forms one point of the triangle of Egypt's three great cities, with Cairo and Port Said on the Suez Canal, the other points.

Cairo No. 1 Now

While the Mediterranean remained open to the British, tons of war material poured into Alexandria. Now, Cairo has assumed that importance, receiving these shipments from American and British vessels making the long trip around the Cape of Good Hope, or from air transports flying across Africa.

Egypt's quiet little people generally have been making ready for months to stand with the British against Germany — just as they did in the last war. In his official acts, young King Farouk I has worked with British officials. Meantime, the army has been built up to a hundred thousand, the airforce to 1,000 planes.

Egypt has had no explosive political or religious problems like those that have plagued India. The population falls roughly into three classes: The peasantry, the majority of whom are Mohammedans or Copts; the bedouins or Arabs, and the Berberin, mostly rural residents of mixed Arab and negro blood.

Meet John Doe

The typical Egyptian city resident is a tawny-skinned individual who works in a cotton or woolen mill—perhaps a sugar refinery—or is engaged in another of the country's few enterprises. The exporting of tobacco, grains, fruits, cement or soap.

He is imperturbable and can accept calamity with resignation. He's elaborately courteous, temperate and frugal in his habits. He doesn't make a fancy living, but an adequate one by his country's standards.

For entertainment he enjoys music from native instruments, played mostly in a minor key—although music is frowned upon in the Mohammedan religion—and he may spend an occasional half-hour watching the street dervishes go through their snake-charming dance.

Fez Still Worn

He has adopted many European customs of dress, but continues to wear the tarbush, or fez. If he has a servant, the servant's class will be indicated by the quality of the shoes he wears.

He swelters in 110-degree daytime heat during the summer, and shivers when the temperature plummets after sundown. If he happens to make a trip across the desert in the winter, he won't find the sands burning—sometimes the thermometer registers 32 degrees.

He's familiar with much of the 7,000-year-old history of his country, the Pharaohs and Cleopatra, but he can't tell why, contrary to popular belief, there are no crocodiles in the Nile.

Many Unduly Alarmed

A LITTLE BOOK in the series, "Help Your Doctor to Help You," published by Harper and Brothers is devoted to heart disease. In spite of the fact that we frequently hear nowadays that heart disease is increasing and we should be familiar with it for that reason, when the news comes to any individual that he has heart disease there are few things that are more upsetting and disturbing. But the heart is a remarkably resilient organ and people with even serious heart derangements often live to generous years.

This book was written to help, first, those thousands of men and women who think they have heart disease when they haven't it; second, those thousands who have heart disease, are much more alarmed and anxious over it than they need to be; third, those who, having symptoms of heart disease, do not realize their significance and do not know that they should immediately consult a physician; and fourth, those with real heart disease who need to understand the nature of their trouble." So says one of the first paragraphs in this useful little volume.

The first group of cases mentioned is a very large one. Many a man and woman worries over heart disease when actually the organ is perfectly normal and it is only the nerves that are playing tricks with it. In another large group of cases the stabbing and aching pains that the patient thinks arise in his heart are not coming from that organ at all, but are really of a rheumatic nature, coming from the chest wall.

Even when heart disease is present, it does not mean that death is near. I saw a patient the other day, aged 66, who had heard the diagnosis of heart trouble pronounced on him over twenty years ago and while he certainly still had heart disease, it was not giving him any trouble.

Naturally, heart disease is increasing because everybody, if he lives long enough, will have some deviation from normal in the heart. The good doctor says over and over again to men and women over fifty, "If I were to find your heart in a boy of twenty, I might be concerned about it, but in you it is normal."

Of the different signs and danger signals that suggest the coming of heart disease nothing is a more delicate indication of impairment in function than shortness of breath on going upstairs or walking fast. This means a shortness of breath which is brought on by an amount of walking or exercise which until a short time before did not cause distress. A second sign of heart weakness is pain behind the breast bone and in the pit of the stomach which usually comes on after exertion.

The load on the circulation is about doubled during the digestion of a meal and therefore many cases of heart pain occur after meals and are put down to acute indigestion.

A symptom that is erroneously thought to mean heart disease is palpitation—the consciousness of a rapidly beating heart. Another symptom is an extra beat of the heart interpolated every once in a while in the course of a normal rhythm. A person may feel this extra beat when he sits with his hands closed and the feeling that he has an irregular pulse may make him very unhappy.

Another symptom which is often put down to heart disease but which is not, is a form of air hunger: the feeling that one is not able to take a deep breath.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C.B.:—What is turbinectomy? Is it an operation or a treatment? Has it any connection with sinus trouble?

Answer: The turbinate bones in the nose may become infected and enlarged and when they are removed by operation, it is called turbinectomy. The symptoms of enlarged turbinates are usually those of sinus trouble.

H.R.S.:—About how many calories will fifteen units of insulin burn up? Can a person ever stop taking insulin? Does it do any harm to regulate insulin according to your meals?

Answer: It differs a little bit with different individuals and under different circumstances, but in general a unit of insulin burns up about four calories. Diabetes is never cured and for that reason it is never possible to stop taking insulin, but in the course of time tolerance is improved and it is possible to reduce the amount of insulin. There are two forms of insulin: ordinary insulin is always given in relation to meals and food intake; protamine zinc insulin is released slowly, its action having a long period of time. People who take protamine zinc insulin usually take it in the morning before breakfast and take only one dose a day.

This is Seaman John Doe of the United States Navy

He gave up his job as a salesman to join the Navy because he felt that was the best thing he could do to help win the war.

How did he happen to join the Navy? How did he know the Navy wanted men? How did he know where to enlist?

Newspaper Advertisements Told Him

The United States Navy told its story, requested enlistments, in the advertising columns of newspapers throughout the United States. Thousands of young men read these advertisements and responded. John Doe is one of them.

Newspaper advertising is the quickest and most economical way to transmit information to the families of this nation. In doing this job for the Navy, in saving precious time, in saving money that can go into Victory Bonds, newspapers perform a great public service during the war.

PAY RAISE GRANTED IN GALION STRIKE

200 Men Return to Work After Settlement.

Special to The Star

GALION, June 30—Wage increases for employes of the Central Ohio Steel Products Co. amounting to five cents an hour advance in day rates and eight per cent increase on piece work were granted to end the strike which was called Wednesday, June 17.

The two hundred workmen returned Monday following an agreement between the company and Local 1151, International Association of Machinists, in which the company agreed to recognize the union as sole bargaining agent for production and maintenance employes and laborers at the factory. This action thereby withdrew the petition made by the union for a national labor relations board election on July 2.

The settlement also calls for a seniority plan whereby a roster will be formulated according to the length of service of an employe.

During the negotiations Norman Schnelker, superintendent, represented the company, along with Attorney Carl H. Henkel of Mansfield, while Hall Cross, chairman; Walter Raypole and Sam Manning represented the union. Ralph Rust of Mansfield was the representative from the American Federation of Labor.

JAPS ON WAKE HIT BY ARMY BOMBERS

Planes on Longest Over Water Attack Ever Made.

By The Associated Press

HEADQUARTERS HAWAIIAN AIR FORCE, June 30 — American army bombers, striking at the enemy in probably the longest over-water bombing flight ever made, have dealt new destruction to tiny Wake Island, which the Japanese seized at a high cost last Dec. 23.

Sweeping over the strategic atoll under full moonlight last Saturday night, the bombers hit all their targets, set the main building afire, leveled everything on the surface, and returned to their base without casualties and without the loss of a plane.

Col. Art W. Meehan, pilot of one of the bombers and a former quarterback at West Point, said it "probably was the longest range over-water bombing flight ever achieved." Wake is 2,000 nautical miles west of Pearl Harbor and a little more than 1,000 miles southwest of Midway island.

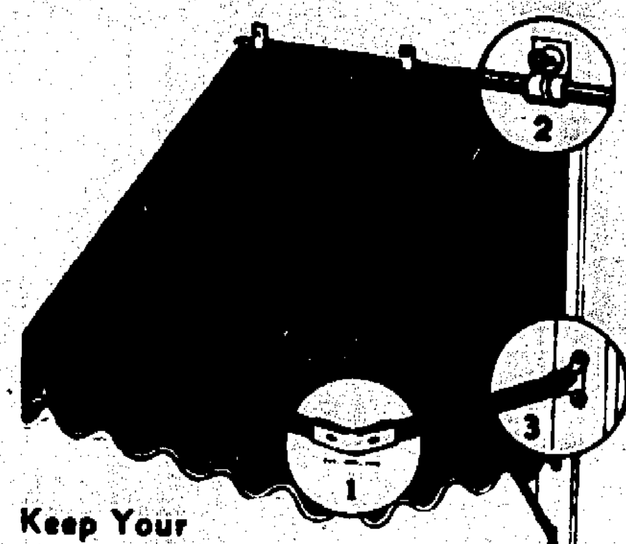

Announcement of the raid was made by headquarters of the Hawaiian air force yesterday after all the planes had returned safely.

It was the second American attack on Wake since the Japanese overwhelmed its gallant marine corps garrison after a heroic 14-day defense.

The first, made by navy planes from a task force last Feb. 24, pounded shore installations to bits, damaged the airfield and wrecked several small boats.

Col. Meehan said Saturday night's raid "crippled this Japanese stepping stone at least until the Japs can repair the damage and fly in new planes.

"We gave them everything we took over."

Bishop Calls Liquor Worst Fifth Column

By The Associated Press

LAKESIDE, O., June 30—Reiterating Bishop H. Lester Smith's declaration that "the most dangerous fifth column activity in America today is the alcohol traffic," the North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist church called on government officials to curb the sale of liquor to members of armed forces and to clamp down on vice.

This resolution introduced by the conference board of temperance was approved at closing sessions of the conference here Monday.

R. L. E. Rush of Mt. Gilead, conference statistician, reported 16,746 new members received during the past year, bringing the conference membership to 226,654, a net gain of 8,702 over last year. Debt reductions totaling $478,938 on church property were reported for the year.

HOME GUARD READY FOR CALL THAT DOESN'T COME

Misunderstanding Over Query Puts Troops on Alert

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30—The home guard at Washington C. H. got "steamed up" for possible duty today but it was all the result of a misunderstanding.

Adj. Gen. Donald F. Pancoast, commanding officer of the Ohio state guard, said a routine query about the state of preparedness for mobilization confused an officer of the guard's special weapon's Company there.

Because the query asked if preparations had been made to obtain 24-hour rations for the company of 50 men immediately in event of emergency, Pancoast said, the officer mistook it for an order to stand by for possible mobilization within 24 hours.

"The men were pretty steamed up," Pancoast said until they learned of the mistake about midnight, nearly 12 hours after the query. Some of the officers and men had gone to the armory there to check equipment, he said.

"They might have been there all night if the confusion hadn't been cleared up," he added.

"LITTLE STEEL" PAY RAISE RECOMMENDED

Investigators Find Companies Able To Pay.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30 — A report made public by the war labor board gave strong support today to pleas for a wage increase for 157,000 employes of "Little Steel."

The report of findings by a three-man panel also supported company check-off of union dues and a proposal that union members now employed in the plants be required to keep up their memberships to retain their jobs.

The panel did not specify the amount of increase it believed justified, but said the concerns involved—Bethlehem, Republic and Inland Steel companies and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company — were able to pay the $1 a day asked by the CIO United Steel workers. It also said the buying power of the earnings of the steel worker had decreased about 13.3 per cent since the last general change of wage rates in the industry.

The board will hear arguments at a public session tomorrow before considering a decision.

The Inland company issued a statement contending the dues check-off and the requirement that union members retain their standing was a form of closed shop and beyond the board's power to impose.

The board, discussing ability to pay, said the dollar increase would cost Bethlehem $23,000,000 annually, Republic $16,500,000, Sheet and Tube $4,700,000 and Inland $3,300,000.

Earnings of concerns in 1941, before federal profit taxes, were listed as: Bethlehem $198,738,000; Republic $70,288,000; Sheet & Tube $37,624,000 and Inland $38,079,000.

If the dollar increase were granted the union, the producers' 1942 earnings prior to federal profit taxes were estimated thus: Bethlehem $90,000,000, Republic $30,000,000, Sheet and Tube $30,000,000 and Inland $30,000,000.

Sheet & Tube Co. officials said the company will contest the report.

He pointed out the report is not a decision in the United Steel-Workers' battle for these points from the four steel making concerns, and said the report is merely a "statement of facts" by the fact-finding panel to the board.

A Message To Marion New-Comers About Brooks Fletcher

By The Committee On Fletcher For Congress

These facts are published here in response to inquiries by some of the new-comers to Marion working in war industries and because the Gallup Poll shows the people need and want more facts about the men they elect to Congress.

Brooks Fletcher Has Lived in Marion More Than 25 Years

After speaking for business and civic organizations in other cities in all parts of the United States, Brooks Fletcher, more than 25 years ago, selected Marion for his home town because he believed Marion to be one of the best cities of its size in America in which to live.

BROOKS FLETCHER

Published Marion Paper

While publishing his Marion daily newspaper and every year since Brooks Fletcher has lived at 234 Thew Ave., Marion, has voted in Marion, paid taxes in Marion and as—

President Harding Said

"Brooks Fletcher, in his nation-wide speaking tours, has advertised Marion from coast to coast."

Will Always Live in Marion

In more than 25 years Brooks Fletcher has never lived in any other place except Marion and he will always live in Marion.

Is It Fair To Our Soldiers To Keep In Congress Obstructionist Politicians Who Voted Against Our Government's Defense Plans?

Many are saying "We are for Brooks Fletcher of Marion for Congress this year because we do not think it is fair to our soldiers fighting at the front to keep in Congress obstructionist politicians who voted against everything, and opposed our Government's early Defense Plans to provide our Armed Forces with badly-needed ships, guns and planes."

Here Is What The Records Show

The official records show that Brooks Fletcher is the first man in this 8th District to win for his Party for Congress in more than a quarter of a century. He has run as much as [illegible] thousand ahead of his ticket.

Let us win this year, when a man experienced in legislation and [illegible] is needed, by [illegible] Brooks Fletcher for Congress at the [illegible] August 11th.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Coxe

CHAPTER 11

The Other Apartment

THE detective opened the door of the rear apartment, opposite the one they had just left. It was a duplicate of Clarke's, the air heavy with mustiness and the smell of stale tobacco. Just inside the door were two chairs, side by side. One was large and overstuffed; the other was straight-backed, and on the seat was an ashtray brimming with cigarette butts and matches.

"Well?" Bacon said, voice blunt but plenty of interest kindling in his gray eyes.

"The guy that rented it," Malloy said, "rented it yesterday morning and paid a month in advance."

"Who to?"

"The janitor. Lavine's downstairs with him now."

"Keep him there. I'll talk to him later." Bacon pushed back his hat, took the cigar from his teeth and ran a palm over his bony face. "How do you figure it?"

"A stake-out," Malloy said. "By the looks of things somebody spent a lot of time in this chair. And it wouldn't be up here by the door unless—"

"Yeah," Bacon said.

That much was obvious to Murdock and he knew it had been to Bacon, and yet the lieutenant had the good sense to know that it never did any harm to let his men explain their theories.

"Okay," he said. "Keep your hands off things until we go over it. No phone here, huh?"

They went back across the hall and closed the door. The examiner's physician was just getting up.

"Go to it," he said. "I'm done."

"What about time?" Bacon asked.

The doctor shook his head and grinned, his voice dry but not sarcastic. "Sometime I hope I'll have a case that got shot through the watch so I can give you fellows a pat answer."

"Sure, I know," Bacon said.

"From an hour to an hour and a half as a guess, and I doubt if I can come any closer than that after the autopsy."

"That puts it between ten forty-five and eleven fifteen," Bacon said. "We got the call at eleven twenty-seven. All right, Doc, thanks."

He watched the man shrug into his coat, examined the end of his cigar which had gone out. "Didn't die right away, did he?"

"If you mean instantly, probably not. Might have, though. The two shots were about four inches apart and one just missed his ticker. You have the one you dug out of the door? Good. I'll give you the other tomorrow."

Slip of Paper

The doctor went out and Bacon brushed ashes from his cigar and proceeded to re-light it. Sergeant Keogh was emptying Clarke's pockets and when he had collected the contents on a table, Bacon began to look things over.

From where Murdock sat he could see a wallet, some keys, coins, a cigaret case and lighter, a small address book. Bacon went through this, put it aside, and started on the wallet.

"Well, he wasn't broke," he said presently.

Murdock rose and went to the table, conscious now of his weariness but reluctant to leave.

"A hundred and thirty bucks," Keogh said.

Bacon was pulling out cards and papers, putting them in a little pile when he had glanced at them. He went along casually enough until he came to a certain bit of paper which he unfolded; then his lips tightened on the cigar and his glance darted to Murdock and held there.

"Look," he said, and smoothed the slip out on the table.

Murdock bent over it. Four names had been scribbled here. The first was Hester. Opposite was a dash, followed by $100,000. Next was Raeburn and the figure $25,000. Below this were two names followed by question marks. The names were Allen and Nason.

Bacon removed his cigar and worked his lips around. "Umm," he said. "This could be something. Hester's that first wife of yours, isn't she? Who's Raeburn?"

Murdock said he didn't know. "Was he at the party?"

"Didn't I just say I didn't know?"

As soon as he heard his voice Murdock was annoyed for letting so much irritation creep into his reply. Seeing Allen's name on that paper had given him a solid jolt because the implication of the question mark which followed it was so obvious.

"If he was I didn't meet him. I don't know anybody of that name."

"Okay," Bacon said. "You don't know him. Maybe Hester does. What's her last name? Losado? Hmm. Well it looks like this lad was lining up some customers. Maybe we can find out for what." He summoned the fingerprint man. "How you doing, Harry?"

"There was a dame up here sometime," Harry said, a round, sad-looking fellow with rimless glasses. "I got a slice of a print on the bedroom doorknob and I think it might match with the ones on that glass."

He pointed to a tray which stood in one corner. A cheap, lacquered affair, it held a bottle of Scotch, partly full, glasses, a bowl of ice, mostly melted now, and a pitcher of water.

"He brought somebody a drink," Harry went on. "His prints are on both glasses and the bottle, but there are a couple of others on one glass—a woman's."

"That's always a help," Bacon said drily; then bending a brow at Murdock: "How do you figure it?"

"I don't figure it," Murdock said. "I'm going home—after I stop by the office."

"Lucky you."

"Yeah," said Keogh. "If I could be a photographer."

"We haven't got a hell of a lot," Bacon said. "But maybe we will after we've checked up on your cocktail party crowd. We'll probably go calling in the morning. Maybe you'd better figure on being there; you'll have plenty of company."

Murdock stopped, his hand on the doorknob, his grin wry and without much humor.

"Whatever you say. Just as long as you don't forget who gave you your start tonight."

New Problem

Joyce Murdock put aside the telephone. Delia had finished with her coat and was putting on her hat.

"Who was that?" she asked. "Kent?"

"Yes." Joyce sat down on the divan. "Come here a minute," she said, and when Delia stood in front of her: "Sit down."

"I really should run," the girl said, "and I've decided about those clippings. I'm not going to translate them. Now anyway. But you'd better keep them for me until—until we know what we should do with them."

She spoke thoughtfully, and without seeming to realize it, perched on the edge of the divan. Joyce reached out and took her hand. She still felt weak from Kent's announcement, and for all the icy hollow at the pit of her stomach, her mind was smothered by the hot flood of doubt and dismay. She wanted time to get a grip on herself, to be alone until she could think things out, and yet, in the light of what Kent had said, she had no choice.

Marion Soldier Wants To Even Score with Axis

A Marion man at Camp Claiborne, La., has a big score to settle in this war and if the army leaves it to him he will be in action when a second front is opened in Europe, according to an account from the public relations office at the camp.

He is Corp. Perry Kores, formerly of Hotel Kumfort, who was barman at the Paulson Grill on West Center street prior to his induction a few months ago.

Corporal Kores, a native of Illinois, came to Marion from Chicago about three and a half years ago.

Here is the story as it is told at Camp Claiborne:

"A soldier in the 82nd infantry division, Kores will tell you first that he's a Yank, next—and with a proud and angry scowl—that he's a Greek.

"Kores had two brothers in Greece in the spring of 1941 when Mussolini pushed his faltering army through Albania into the hills of Greece.

"Born in the United States they had returned to Greece to visit relatives and to study. They left their boyhood home to join the Greek army and they were part of the small force that beat back the heavy Italian legions.

"When the German Wehrmacht, however, rushed from the western front to aid their Axis partner, the Greeks found themselves crushed by heavy air and ground superiority.

"It was then that Kores heard his two brothers died in battle, high in the hills above Thermopylae.

"The corporal doesn't talk much about it as he busies himself in the officers' mess of the infantry regiment where he is a steward. But when the men get together in their tents at night to wonder where they'll do their fighting, Kores not only wonders but he also does some hoping.

"When the second front is opened, Corporal Kores wants to be there for the show."

AGENTS SET FOR WAR INSURANCE POLICIES

Get Supplies To Start Writing Coverage Wednesday.

Licensed Marion insurance dealers have received supplies for the new insurance against war damage from enemy attack or resisting American forces to cover physical loss of real and personal property beginning Wednesday.

State Insurance Supt. John Lloyd reported yesterday in Columbus that the War Damage Corp., a new federal agency, would write the insurance, according to The Associated Press.

The lowest rate, 10 cents per $100 on minimum policy premiums of $3 applies to houses and household furnishings, according to one member of the Marion Insurance Agent association. The rate increases to as high as 75 cents per hundred.

Licensed agents, whether they are members of the association, are eligible to handle the new war insurance, it was reported.

They Cover the War Fronts

This is the last of a series of articles on Associated Press correspondents covering the war fronts for The Star and AP members.

Richard G. Massock

Energetic, stocky Richard G. Massock covered many of Europe's hottest news stories for The Associated Press during the 10-year period ending with his internment at Rome in December, 1941.

In France, he reported the Stavinsky financial scandal; the February (1934) riots, in which he was wounded slightly, and the assassinations of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Barthou in Spain, he reported operations of the Nationalist forces during eight months of the Spanish Civil War. In Russia, he reported the purge of 1937-1938, when Soviet citizens disappeared in record numbers. In Italy, he reported the crisis over Czechoslovakia, the death of Pope Pius XI, the coronation of the new Pope, Italy's occupation of Albania and the many other events precipitating World War II.

For years, prior to September, 1939, he had insisted that war was inevitable.

Born July 27, 1900, at Blue Mound, Ill., Massock studied law at the University of Illinois, but left school to work on The Springfield (Ill.) Illinois State Journal.

He joined The Associated Press at Chicago in 1920 and worked in AP bureaus at Jefferson City, Mo.; Madison, Wis., and Dallas, Fort Worth and Austin, Tex. He was transferred to New York City in 1926 as one of the first members of AP's feature service staff. He was sent to Paris in 1932.

Bearings for Planes

Berries for Pantries

It may be a far cry from bearings to berries, but both are important to America's war effort. In modern mechanized warfare an army moves on bearings. For planes, for tanks, for jeeps, for trucks, for big guns, for a hundred and one uses in war materials — bearings of all sizes are being manufactured. These vital parts of our war machine must be heat treated to just the proper hardness by exacting temperatures maintained best by gas. This is one of the war jobs of gas on the industrial front.

On the home front, the canning of berries and other fruits, and of vegetables, too, is another important phase of the war effort. Here as the housewife's chief "aide-de-kitchen" gas is doing a second war job. Yes, today, your gas service is doing double duty with a single purpose, to help win the war.

Tickets That Save Lives

NOT many entertainment events offer as much to the customers as does the Little Grand Circuit race meeting scheduled to open here Wednesday night.

In addition to giving this section of Ohio a program of high class racing over a two-week period, it helps one of Marion's most worthy public health agencies—the Free Baby clinic of the City hospital.

We earnestly urge all who are interested in maintaining the clinic at utmost efficiency to buy the bargain books of tickets for the races that are being sold by the Woman's Board of the City Hospital. All proceeds from these purchases go into the clinic fund, and so those who buy are assured double enjoyment—from the entertainment of a thrilling race program, and from the satisfaction of knowing that one of the city's most vitally important community services has been helped.

Accomplishments of the Free Baby clinic are so well known that comment is hardly necessary. As a brief reminder, however, let it be said that through the operation of this agency health is assured babies who otherwise might be doomed to untimely death or to go through life weak and afflicted. The service is primarily for those infants whose parents would not have the means of obtaining it from any other source.

Members of the Woman's Board of the Hospital give time and effort unsparingly in behalf of this service. They ask the public's support, and the public should respond gladly and in full measure.

If you have been asked to buy some of the Baby clinic bargain tickets no doubt you have bought. If you haven't been called on by the saleswomen—and obviously, they can't see everybody—find out where the tickets are on sale and make a purchase voluntarily. You'll enjoy the races more by knowing that you have bought tickets not only to the races but to life and health for some child.

News stories appearing daily in The Star will tell where the tickets may be obtained.

The Quality of Toughness

MOST disturbing of the surmises coming out of the summer campaigns so far is the hint that empire troops in Libya lacked something in toughness, that they were driven back not only by superior generalship but by superior fighting zest. This surmise is dangerous because it encourages a tendency to generalize.

Perhaps there may have been something wrong with the will to combat of British forces in Libya, though even that tentative conclusion must be suggested cautiously. But certainly there has been nothing wrong with the fighting quality of the enemies of the Axis as a whole, nor is it justifiable to claim, as so many thoughtlessly do claim, that British troops fall back too easily.

Nothing would be more agreeable to the Japanese propagandists than to discover that their credo of inferior fighting ability has been accepted by even a minority in the United Nations bloc. That has been one of their claims in the war of nerves. It is a claim that has not been confirmed by the facts, only by superficial events in the ebb and flow of battle.

There has been nothing wrong with the courage or intensity of the fighting men who have met their Axis opponents on equal terms. Quite the contrary, it has been evident that under anything approaching favorable circumstances, they consistently have proved themselves superior. The vaunted toughness of the Axis fighter remains what it always was—a propaganda claim.

Deferment Policy

EARLY attempts to clarify effect of the congressional policy of deferring married men are generally leading up to the same conclusion—that the effect will vary according to the exigencies of local draft boards. The exigencies of the boards, in turn, will vary according to the fortunes of war. What this means to potential draftees is that they should take nothing for granted. Married men have not been immunized against service calls by declaration of a policy that they should not be called until single men without dependents and single men with dependents have been called. When the single men are all gone, the procedural policy stated by congress puts married men without children next in order. When they are all gone, married men with children will be taken. While this is explicit in the amendment to the selective service act, it has been muddled in many cases by wishful thinking. The only thing that can save married men from military service is a successful conclusion of the war before draft boards are forced to fill their quotas with registrants remaining after all the single men qualified otherwise for induction have been drawn. Creation of a mass army is a condition, not a theory and must be done in the long run with what is actually available, not what should be.

BUT NOT GOOD FOR TIRES.

News Behind the News

Persons in Possession of Facts Not Impatient with Conduct of War.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 20—Some disappointment is evident in women's clubs and among citizen groups unfamiliar with military tactics (particularly on the Pacific coast) against the Roosevelt-Churchill conduct of the war.

The failure of their joint statement to promise anything very definite, coming after the Dutch Harbor raid and the occupation of two remote rocks in the Aleutian islands, plus the really dismal failure in Libya, seems to be starting another wave of impatience, not shared by persons in possession of the facts.

Enough truly bad news is probably coming along to let the faint hearted indulge themselves fully, without conjuring imaginary dangers.

Fall of Sevastopol has been counted there as likely for the past two weeks. When that Russian naval base goes, about 20 good Nazi divisions will be released for the delayed "spring" drive in the Donets basin.

The coming important part of the fight, Nazi occupation of Sevastopol, would not only clear the Crimea, but give the Germans an excellent Black Sea port into which to pour supplies by boat from Rumania (via the Danube) and from Constanza.

The Egyptian situation has recently been judged as serious but not hopeless for the British. They have a good line if they can hold it.

The Matruh line is an excellent defensive position, much better than Sidi Barrani for several reasons. It follows southward from the sea, a depression in the desert lined with a rocky escarpment.

The sands there are loose and difficult for tanks. Trucks and supply trains can not pass. There are no camel trains.

The southern flank is protected further by waterless desert of a difficult type. Camels can get through, but mechanized equipment would have to go a long way around.

Second Front

Any bragging statement from Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill, therefore, would have been untimely and might have a short-lived effect.

Impatient persons should face facts. Everyone wants a second front in Europe but the decision to launch that front should be made on a military, not a political basis. The military leaders must decide when they have enough men and material to win.

The Dutch Harbor raid was a minor sideshow and the occupation of tip Aleutian Islands (nearer Japan than Midway Island) is a matter of no importance.

You can not blame Mr. Roosevelt for Libya. The British were so confident there, they had taken little interest in getting our lend-lease material there for three months past. They had all they wanted or needed—except a clever fighting general like MacArthur.

Churchill and the British will have to answer for that one alone.

Labor Board Split

The war labor board is splitting up inside in all directions over the vital little steel wage increase cases.

The labor members naturally will vote for the 5¼ a day increase, and union maintenance shop. The industry members are backed in their opposition by the Roosevelt policy of maintaining equilibrium in the war economy.

The representatives of the republic, who hold the balance of power are sitting on a middle and know it, being hopelessly divided.

This split naturally must be kept from the public gaze and a compromise which can be announced as unanimously adopted is what the board powers are working on. Whether it will be along the line of the panel report is as yet undecided question.

The board has been kicking off since February a decision on this test case which will furnish the pattern for General Motors, Chrysler and Ford, and may upset the Henderson planned war price economy.

It is strictly a case between the CIO and the government. The companies do not care as much as usual about the wage increase, because the public treasury will have to pay it in increased costs of war weapons.

Sugar

The government is coming clean on sugar at least moderately clean. While exact figures of sugar stocks like those of gasoline are suppressed by censorship (not the voluntary kind), the Henderson office has announced stocks are only 20 per cent below last year.

Government officials privately claim that these stories you read about warehouses bulging everywhere with sugar are circulated by political forces who want to kill the sugar act.

Apparently south coast storage houses are overflowing, because they are not accustomed to handling as large a portion of the supply as has poured in upon them lately. Also a Texas factory said it was going to shut down because it had no storage space left.

The country as a whole has no surplus sugar, although the question of how much rationing is justified is still open.

ABOARD STEAMER ANATOLE SEROV ON THE VOLGA RIVER—At Astrakhan it isn't the golden bell tower of the Cathedral of the Assumption of the Holy Virgin which first catches my eye but the sight of hundreds of pairs of American and British shoes on Red Army soldiers. At this ancient Caspian port, crowds gather to look at the shoes.

Astrakhan, located on a huge island, has never been busier. Strange old streets are filled with people. You see representatives of virtually every nation of Europe and Asia. This center of the Calmuck district is one of the Soviet Union's biggest fish bins, and the city is increasingly important as a market for melons, grapes and vegetables.

Resettlement Problem

Combination freight-passenger vessels are being loaded with persons from fascist-occupied sectors, then carried off to other regions.

"These people want to get to their new home," explains an official, "and we want to get them there. Now watch."

An orderly line forms from waiting room to ship. Down it walks every representative, it seems to me, of the Russian people—old women, old men, young women, small children and wounded unfit for further service.

They first fill space beneath decks where sleeping quarters are provided. Then they are assigned deck space, but are unable to sit down because of the number of passengers.

"This is how they must go, as space must be devoted to shipments of war," says the official, "but you won't hear any complaints."

But No 'Volga Boatman'

Late these hot evenings many natives gather to sing softly the folk songs of this city, founded by the Golden Horde. But here, as in hundreds of miles of travel along the Volga, I can't find a man who can play "The Song of the Volga Boatman."

One boatman who can play on the piano almost anything you might hum is Mischa, who can't tell a note of music from a fly-speck. Aboard a steamer carrying homeward a load of wounded soldiers, Mischa is dug out every night, placed at the ship piano and told the Russian equivalent of "Beat it out, boy."

As the steamer beats up the flooded river, Mischa beats his way through dozens of songs and the men join in a chorus that must have rocked the high banks of the river.

'Americanski Musica'

One night Mischa is playing sentimental music with the pent up sadness of so many Russian folk songs when a political commissar enters excitedly and announces the Soviet-British and Soviet-American pacts.

"Nada Americanski musica," says Mischa.

From then on everything is American—from "Old Man Mose" to "The Star Spangled Banner." The ones most liked seem to be "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Near the end of the long trip up and down the Volga, one thinks about the great river. One realizes how important to victory it is in such a vast country and one thinks of the thousands of people along its banks united in discipline for winning the war.

Daily Bible Thought

Persistence in prayer was well illustrated by Jacob. Casual petitions have small value, we must really wrestle in prayer till we get the answer. Sometimes we will learn that our prayer is not good nor proper, but we can find out only by fervent petition: "I will not let thee go, except thou bless me."—Genesis 32:26.

Today and Tomorrow

Professor R's Plan for Post-War World of Big States Criticized.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

SOME time ago Collier's Weekly published an article and maps by the professor of geography at Teachers College, Columbia university. It was called "Maps for a New World." It was an astounding performance. Much the most important aspect of it is not what Professor Renner thinks our war aims ought to be, but how he thinks about them. For while he has no political influence, he is a teacher in an institution which trains teachers who go to all parts of the country. He is a professor in an institution which exercises immense influence upon American education.

The outlook for American civilization would be, I submit, very dark indeed if Professor Renner's habits of mind were to become at all general in American colleges. For they are the habits of mind which have caused the deepest concern to lawmakers and to teachers and to the doctors of religion in all ages and in all places. They are the habit of thinking of others as if they were inanimate objects, and the habit of thinking of oneself as above all human standards of good and evil. Professor Renner is no doubt a man of blameless life. But when his ways of thinking are found in a man of violent and active character, it may take a world war to subdue him.

In this way of thinking we find always an overwhelming conviction that the man is appointed by destiny to improve the human race, to solve its ancient problems, to inaugurate a new order. The man is always convinced that he has heard voices, or that he has intuition, or that he has "scientific knowledge" available only to himself and a few of the specially initiated.

These warning symptoms are present in what, speaking "scientifically," we may now call the case of Professor R. His special knowledge is what he calls "political georgraphy"; his appointed mission is the "designing of a new world map to meet democratic specifications." So he clears the ground for this task by dismissing all the amateurs of the state departments of the various nations of the world, and goes on to say that "every map or blueprint for peace so far has been drawn by self-appointed amateurs."

"Series of Crimes"

Professor R's new world map to meet democratic specifications confirms the clinical picture which these preliminary warning symptoms would lead a student of the human mind to anticipate. In those maps we behold a mind unconsciously conceiving a series of atrocious and irreparable crimes in order to make a more perfect world. Thus it is Professor R's view arrived at by special geographical insight that in a perfect world there would be "a Europe consisting of nine strong nations, any one of which would be strong enough to discourage aggression."

Therefore, in order to make the nine strong nations Professor R advises the United States to murder the small nations and feed them to the bigger nations.

He believes, for example, that to meet democratic specifications we should exterminate the Swiss Republic, and then divide up its territory and its citizens among Germany, Italy and France. The reader must bear with me. I know this is revolting, but I must repeat that Professor R wishes to found a democratic peace on the political murder of the most ancient republic in the Western World. After more than six centuries of Swiss independence, he wishes us to celebrate our victory over Hitler by dismembering the Swiss nation and placing the Swiss people under

Plain Decency

Our Plan for Giving Veterans What They Deserve Now Is Bill in House of Representatives.

By DAMON RUNYON

WALTER A. LYNCH, congressman from the Bronx, New York, advises me that, inspired by this column, he has introduced in the house of representatives a bill providing for continuing the pay of the men of our armed forces for one year from the date of honorable discharge.

Without having had the opportunity of reading Mr. Lynch's bill in detail, I feel sure that in principle it will strike a responsive chord among the millions of men in the service or about to go in. I believe it will also be endorsed by the veterans of our other wars who will remember the difficulties they had in getting started anew in civil life after their army and navy service.

That is my theory of the pay continuance to give former soldiers and sailors a living wage while they are endeavoring to find their place in civil life. It is my opinion that this would mean freedom from worry about the immediate future which always besets a man suddenly turned out of the service with only a few dollars in his pocket to find the world he knew completely changed.

Of course, many will readjust themselves quickly and easily but there will be millions of others not so fortunate. It is of these I am thinking. I have seen too many former service men wandering aimlessly about, broke and discouraged after two of our other wars to have any confidence in the government or society showing any concern for them.

THE PROMISES that many employers make about holding jobs for men going into the service sounds highly patriotic and reassuring but they are generally forgotten before the echoes of the last guns have died away.

By that time the jobs are filled by fellows who for one reason and another did not go to war, and the employers manifest a strange disinclination to make room for the returned heroes.

I expect to hear the objection to continuing the pay that it would be paying men for doing nothing, an old familiar cry against rewarding those who serve the flag. It is usually raised by persons who never know the hardships of service or the smell of gunpowder, as if offering one's life and giving the best years of one's youth were nothing.

I expect to hear, too, the criticism that it would be placing a price on patriotism, as if it were better to let patriotism starve and become embittered after a war than to enjoy a full stomach and the feeling that the republic is not always ungrateful. These same things were said when the veterans of the first World war were seeking adjusted service compensation—generally known as the bonus, but what it really meant was compensation to make up for what the service men lost in civil life when they joined up. It took them 20 years to win the fight for this adjusted service compensation which will surely be demanded by the men in the service today unless they are rewarded as I suggest.

THE PAY continuance would amount to immediate payment of a bonus and at a time when it would be of more benefit to most of the men than if it were long delayed and involved another political struggle. It would afford capital to the men in renewing business or farm work. It would give those who will come back from the war broken in health and spirit the opportunity of resting and recuperating—probably not all the men would accept the pay continuance, furthermore.

Those who are able to get work at once would very likely waive the government remuneration. It may surprise you to learn that not all men are disposed to greed, where the government is concerned. I understand the upward of $175,000 veterans of the first World war have failed to pick up their adjusted service compensation to this day, mainly because they have not needed it.

Goes 200 Miles on Gallon of Gas

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Neither gasoline nor the rationing bothers J. T. Giles, 82-year-old photographer, who has traveled far and wide in a one-passenger home-built 3-wheel type motorcycle.

Giles bought a small one-and-one-half horsepower motor, built a chassis around it with parts picked up at random and now has a vehicle that travels up to 25 miles an hour and goes about 200 miles on one gallon of gas.

He recently took a trip to Washington at the east coast steering with an axe handle. The trip was easy, he said. He just hooked a trailer containing his camping equipment to the vehicle and started out.

The motor, connected with the wheels by belts and chains, has only one gear. There is no foot pedal controls the brake and the car has no accelerator. The gas feed is automatic.

Giles solved the tire problem, too. One of his pneumatic tires was made for a wheelbarrow, another for a one-wheel trailer, the third for a small tractor.

The inventor also has an emery wheel on the chassis. He hooks it up to the motor and makes extra money sharpening knives.

An Ohio Farmer's Invention

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O.—Farmers throughout the nation are profiting from the ingenuity of Walter Baxter, a Van Wert county farmer who designed in 1935 what has come to be known as an auto buck rake—a farm tool which in an emergency will permit one man to store a crop of hay.

The rake is mounted either on an old auto or tractor and collects hay in the field in addition to serving as a vehicle for hauling it to the barn. Some farmers estimate the auto buck rake reduced haying costs by 50 per cent and speeds up the job of getting the foliage stored.

Ohio State University agricultural engineers said horse-propelled buck rakes had been used for years in the west but hitching the rake to an automobile was just the touch needed to make the machine popular everywhere. The original design for the auto buck rake has been improved since 1935.

Herman and Philip Hilty of Bluffton originated a water muffler which removes all fire hazards from the equipment. Jerome L. Kimmel of Summit county devised a popular power take off to lift the loaded rake for the trip to the barn.

Shortage of Doctors Seen

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, Conn.—Dr. Michael M. Davis, of the Connecticut State Medical Society, forecasting that a total of 58,000 physicians under 45 would be withdrawn from civilian life for military purposes, has suggested a national pool of medical men and women to serve communities in their absence.

Such a withdrawal he says, would deplete the civilian population of about half of its physicians. Such action, he adds, "is necessary if we are to use the doctors the army leaves

A MESSAGE TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Dear Commander-in-Chief:

● In your masterly address to your people recently you said that we must put more billions into War Bonds. You also said: "all of us are used to spending money for things we want, but which are not absolutely essential. We will have to forego that spending, because we must put every dime and every dollar we can possibly spare out of our earnings into War Savings Bonds and Stamps."

● We agree with you, Mr. President.

● There are now more than 400 stores in Marion employing nearly 1100 men and women — who are investing in War Stamps and Bonds.

● Every retail salesperson in Marion has been enlisted to expand such investments to the limit, during the month of July.

● All this has been done under the direction of your War Savings Committee, for Marion County . . . and we join in commending the efforts of your county chairman, E. J. Schoenlaub.

● This is a splendid beginning . . . and indicative of the impressive results which will be achieved when every retail salesperson in America swings into line.

● Your Secretary of the Treasury has published a "Yardstick" by which citizens may gauge their purchases of War Savings Bonds and Stamps. He suggested an average of one-tenth of every income . . . certainly little enough to invest in retaining our Liberty and Freedom for the Future.

● We're also sure that this "Yardstick" will not be misunderstood . . . and that everyone will recognize it as the very, very, VERY MINIMUM need of our country at this critical time.

Whiteout for Victory

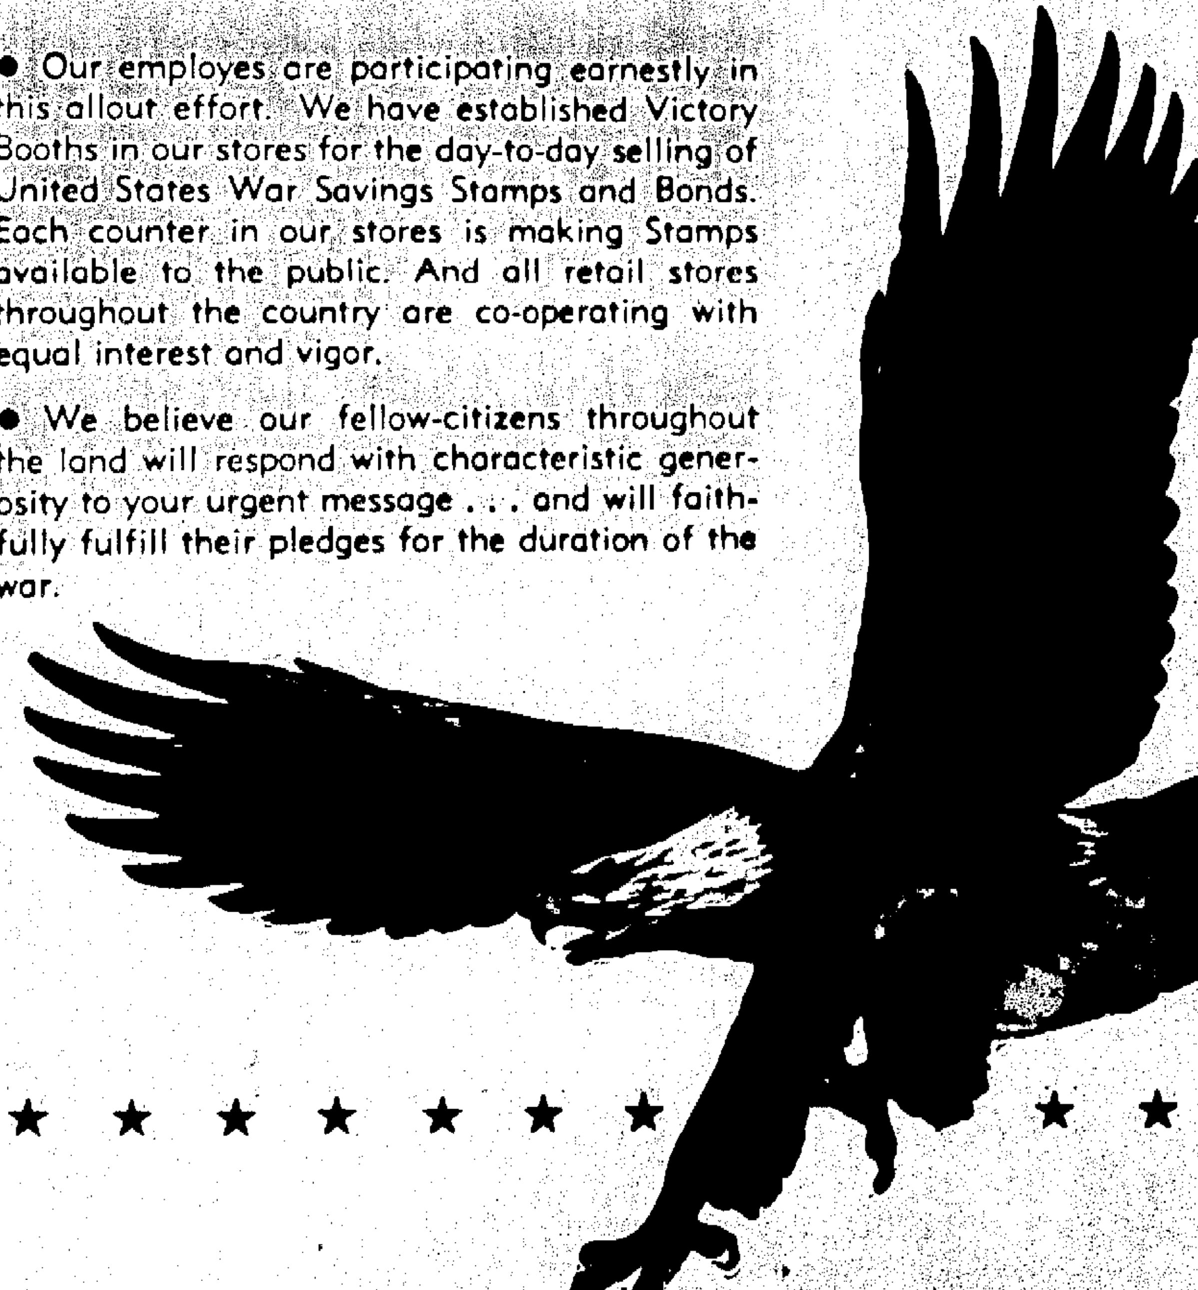

Tomorrow, July 1st

12 Noon to 12:15

15 MINUTES set aside by Marion retailers, during which their entire merchandising effort will be expanded toward the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. Conducted in collaboration with one million other retail stores throughout the United States to inaugurate the biggest selling campaign in all history — THE RETAILERS FOR VICTORY DRIVE TO SELL WAR BONDS AND STAMPS.

● Our employes are participating earnestly in this allout effort. We have established Victory Booths in our stores for the day-to-day selling of United States War Savings Stamps and Bonds. Each counter in our stores is making Stamps available to the public. And all retail stores throughout the country are co-operating with equal interest and vigor.

● We believe our fellow-citizens throughout the land will respond with characteristic generosity to your urgent message . . . and will faithfully fulfill their pledges for the duration of the war.

PASTORATE CHANGES LISTED IN DISTRICT

Announced at North-East Ohio M. E. Conference.

Changes in pastorates were announced for several churches of this locality at the closing session of the North-east Ohio conference of the Methodist church at Lakeside yesterday, according to an Associated Press report. The new pastors announced by Bishop Lester H. Smith were R. L. Lowman, Bucyrus Epworth; W. A. Hewitt, Butler; E. E. Prescott, Cardington; D. A. Polen, Edison; G. M. Fair, Fredericktown circuit; G. O. Bensethum, Nevada, and T. I. Hanson, Sunbury.

Reiterating Bishop Smith's assertion that "the most dangerous fifth column activity in America today is the alcohol traffic," the conference called on government officials to curb the sale of liquors to members of the armed forces and to clamp down on vice.

Another resolution stated "The North-east Ohio Annual Conference, in session at Lakeside, reaffirms its loyalty to the nation in this hour of peril." This resolution supplemented a conference report on the relationship of the church to the world situation, which this year was in the form of a lengthy questionnaire from which the opinions of the group were tabulated.

Allies Recognize Egyptian Position at Critical Stage

by DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The battle for Egypt still swirls inconclusively but it's well we recognize now that the allies are nearer disaster than at any time since Hitler crushed the Anglo-French-Belgian fighting front.

Definitely it's not a moment for despair, but it will be a matter of great rejoicing if we win. Here's the way the picture looks at the moment:

The British have been carrying out a fighting withdrawal in the face of Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's fierce all-out offensive until their right flank has reached the neighborhood of Fuka on the coast, and probably has gone east of that place. It looks as though they would aim to hold at El Daba, a fortified position on the coast.

Should the defense fail to hold a line from El Daba it might let catastrophe loose against the key naval and air base of Alexandria only 100 miles farther east. Cairo and the Suez canal lie just beyond.

Then British withdrawal has largely been strategically calculated to compel Rommel to lengthen his already strained lines of communication and at the same time permit the defenders to shorten their battle front and reorganize.

Among factors working against the British are these: their weary army is disorganized from its heavy defeat and retreat and is having to reorganize in the face of Rommel's terrific hammering. The enemy holds the initiative.

If Alexandria's usefulness as a naval and air base hasn't already been largely nullified, there is danger it will be because of the enemy's capture of airfields from which axis bombers can reach this great port.

Circumstances favorable to the British include the time gained by retreat. That has permitted the arrival of fresh troops. Better yet, American air strength—was coming to the rescue. This meant much because it appeared that the battle was likely to turn on air control, and Rommel likewise was receiving air aid.

Best of all the defenders have their chins up and say that they can win.

rally of civilian defense units, also.

State Officers Invited

Adjutant General Donald F. Pancoast and his staff, State Guard units at Kenton, Marysville, Delaware and Bucyrus, all Marion civilian defense units and Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts from surrounding communities will be invited to attend.

The induction program is being arranged by George D. Hildebrandt, commander of Marion's civilian military training program, and Robert T. Mason.

Mr. Ebert said today that although the new company has its full quota of men at present, he is particularly interested in recruiting men of 3-A and Class 4 of the draft, since the present ranks will be hard hit in the next few draft calls.

Pay Provided

After the induction ceremony the men will be reimbursed at the rate of 50 cents an hour for two hours of drill a week. All equipment will be furnished and all drills will be conducted at the armory.

The only difference between the State Guard company and Marion's former National Guard companies is that the new unit is subject to call from the governor only, while the National guard could be called by either the President or the governor. The State Guard will be financed by the state.

Sunday Mr. Ebert and Dale Price, who has been designated second lieutenant, attended a meeting of regimental officers in Columbus to discuss plans for the State Guard camp at Camp Zaleski in Vinton county in July.

The plans for the training program aroused enthusiasm, Mr. Ebert said.

He said that according to plans for the State Guard units, the equipment and training will be for guerrilla warfare as a precaution against parachute invasion.

18-20 REGISTRATION TO CLOSE TONIGHT

New Signers Expected To Increase County Total to 800.

Marion's three draft boards will register 18-20-year-old youths until 9 tonight. Approximately 400 are expected to register today and tonight in addition to the more than 400 who signed up Saturday.

Only the 20-year-olds who register are subject to induction under the present selective service act, draft board officials pointed out today.

Although all 18, 19 and 20-year-olds will be given order numbers, only those who are 20 will be sent questionnaires for classification, upon which their order numbers will be determined. Serial numbers will be prefixed by the letter "N."

Method of Listing

Young men of 20 who have the same birth date will be listed alphabetically, otherwise they will be listed according to birth dates.

Some 85,000 Ohioans are expected to register for possible military service in today's registration, the nation's fifth, The Associated Press reported.

State selective service officials said about half the estimated 165,000 Ohio young men in the current registration signed up Saturday.

Although the 18-and 19-year-olds are not subject to immediate call, the army has indicated it would like congressional authorization to draft them. It is now in the midst of a recruiting campaign directed at men under 20, and war department spokesmen have told congressional committees that in many combat assignments youths of 18 and 19 make the best soldiers.

National Estimates

Today's registration is for men born on or after Jan. 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924. The census bureau estimates that the registration will cover 2,446,000 of the 18-19 age groups and 616,000 of the 20 to 20½ group.

Instead of being subject to call by lottery, as in previous registrations, the new registrants will be classified for military service in the order of their birthdays, the oldest being classified first.

He said he was well pleased with the amount reported because none of the city's industries are large users of rubber.

Woman Reporter Gets Back-Stage View of Problems in Life of Race Horse

Horses and Their Trainers Welcome Visitors; Most Race Animals Get Royal Care.

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Just what do race horses do in their leisure hours? Do they dream of broad meadows where they might run and kick up their heels far and away from the watchful eyes of their trainer? Do they just mark time until they can do their turn to the cheers of race fans? Or do they just try to figure out what there is about a horse race that makes humans yell their heads off one minute and look as though they never expected to smile again the next?

We didn't find an answer to any one of these queries when we turned Polly Pry and went back stage at the Marion County fairgrounds yesterday afternoon for a glimpse of the private lives of the more than 200 horses here for the Little Grand Circuit harness meet. But we did learn a lot about race horses.

The races, in case you have overlooked it in these maddening rush days, are being sponsored again this year by the Woman's Board of the Marion City hospital, and the proceeds of their ticket sale will be used to sponsor the free baby clinic supported by the members at the hospital. The races start tomorrow night and continue through July 10.

It was really ladies' day backstage at the racing stables—there was a trio of us—Mrs. Robert E. White, general chairman of the ticket selling campaign, and Miss Geraldine Hord, a natural when it comes to knowing horses and ticket selling, and a member of the board.

Colorful Stalls

If any one has an idea that any old place, just so there's room to lie down and space for a water bucket and feed box, is good enough for these glamorous boys and girls of the equine family, they're mistaken. They're billeted in roomy stalls with plenty of open space for his or her highness to keep a watchful eye on trainers and swipes, and if it's a sunny exposure, awnings if you please. Outside the stalls are the trunks for carrying the equipment, such toilet articles as curry combs and brushes—and we don't mean just one brush but several—and the outside walls are gay with blankets in the owners' colors. Some even have monogrammed towels.

It's our guess that these very knowing animals are very much aware when a stranger is about and for the most part are willing to get acquainted with their public. In fact some really turn on the glamour — especially the femmes—when a visitor approaches. There is not a whit of haughtiness about any of them—proving they are to the manner born—although some of the gals are a bit vain. (One youngster which will not be racing here had her mane and bangs in braids).

Horses are not the only animals on the lot. There are countless dogs, mascots of the various stables. We met Jack, Wimpy and Michigan, the friendliest pups you ever saw. Pooch, a black and tan dog, greeted us like old friends.

Smithy Kept Busy

One of the busiest places on the grounds was the blacksmith shop where C. C. Arbogast of Washington C. H. was shoeing as fine a piece of horseflesh as one would wish to see. Arbogast has been in the horseshoeing business for 40 years and his specialty is race and riding horses. Among the things he told us is he fashioned a slick looking shoe and nailed it on the right forefoot of one Jimmy Armstrong was that race horses need new shoes about every 20 days. They're made of steel, are very light and wear out quickly. Here we also met Alec and Lady, full blooded Dalmatians—coach dogs to us.

Is the racing business a place for women? The answer is yes, if you ask a woman from Roslin whose husband is in charge of one of the stables. She helps work the horses, gives them their bath and rub down and doctors their minor ailments when necessary. She's been in the business for nine or ten years and has always known horses—used to ride summers on her father's farm in Maine.

We wish we were just half as important as "Smoky", the little colored boy, who was delegated by a keeper to walk one of the horses. And we'd like to sit in some time when "Bill," who has been in the racing game for more than 50 years, really breaks down and talks. He used to drive when sulkies were not the light things they are now, they had high wheels and were much heavier. "Years ago," he said, "they used to blanket their horses like they were afraid they would freeze, and they never gave them grass." His first race was at Bay City, Mich., and he drove Miller Boy and won. How did he come to get into the racing game—he went in with his father.

Sulkies Carefully Made

Believe it or not, you can pull one of those racing sulkies with one finger—and you really should take a look at the wheel balance—it's as perfect as a watch.

Are there any problem horses? Sure, we were told. Some will turn somersaults, run away, fall into the waste piles and then go out on the track and be perfect ladies and gentlemen.

What do the trainers and their helpers do for entertainment? There's an inviting looking lunch stand, there's the horses to talk about and one can always drum up a game of rummy. What's so fascinating about the racing game aside from seeing the horses run? Well wangle an invite backstage some time and you'll agree with us—There's plenty. As for the folks who set the stage—from the swipes on up—they are as friendly and accommodating as you'll find in a day's journey in any man's town.

COLUMBUS FINDS OPERATING FUNDS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30—Sixty-one policemen and 44 firemen will escape Mayor Floyd F. Green's "pay-as-you-go" furlough ax by action of a city council harassed by [illegible] problems.

In a troublous session last night, the council approved general fund use of $200,000 in unclaimed gas refund money the city expects to receive.

Green said this action would enable him to reduce furloughs—scheduled for tomorrow — in the police department from 189 to 128, and in the fire department from 181 to 137. Reductions in rank to effect economies are planned among the remaining 180 policemen and 250 firemen.

Columbus' financial emergency resulted from legislation prohibiting refunding the municipal debt and the defeat by voters of a proposed 2.5 mill charter amendment levy. Officials contend these developments make it imperative for the city to operate within its 1942 budget.

Funneling the anticipated $200,000 into the general fund also makes possible, temporarily, restoration of normal garbage collections, cut sharply after the electorate rejected the levy amendment.

Stage Set for Marion's Little Grand Circuit Inaugura

ARRANGEMENTS were virtually complete today for the unveiling Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the county fairgrounds of Marion's two-week Little Grand Circuit harness racing meet.

By inaugural post time more than 200 horses will be quartered in all available stall space. Yesterday horses from the leading stables in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York continued to arrive.

Principal stable to arrive yesterday was that of Bob Vallery of Urbana, who brought a string of five fast pacers and one trotter here. He is expecting six more horses before the meet gets to the half-way mark. Vallery brought his stable here after a successful campaign at Buffalo raceway, Hamburg, N. Y.

Other drivers arriving yesterday who planned to send their charges through initial workouts over the half-mile fairground oval today are: Jack F. Rhile of Clarksburg, W. Va., George Bennett of Berea, Tom Carlock of Greenville, Charles Bewley of Bellefontaine, Clinton Lighthill of Ottawa, Charles Rumley of Princeton, Ill., and George Bennett of Painesville.

More than 30 horses from eastern tracks are expected to arrive today. Several nationally-known drivers now campaigning at Hamburg, Saratoga and Goshen, N. Y., tracks have planned to send horses, it was learned yesterday.

Mrs. Robert White, general chairman of the Woman's Board of the Marion City hospital, sponsors of the meet, reported sale of tickets was progressing. All money received from the sale of advanced tickets is donated to the City hospital baby clinic conducted by the board.

Steve Phillips of Xenia, veteran Grand Circuit starter who will be starting judge for the Marion meet, arrived yesterday. Phillips, who has started more Grand Circuit meetings than any present day harness official, will be making his first track appearance of the current season. For more than 20 years he has supervised the leading state fairs throughout the country and on several occasions has started the rich Hambletonian stake, harness racing's Kentucky Derby.

He is a nephew of one of the old-time driving greats, Steve Phillips. The elder Phillips was one of the leading drivers 50 years ago. He drove his last race at the age of 90 at Xenia.

Wayne Groves of Pinehurst, N. C., is presiding judge for the local meet. Yesterday morning he began the endless task of classifying all horses on the grounds. He recently completed an engage as handicapper at the Free N. J. meeting.

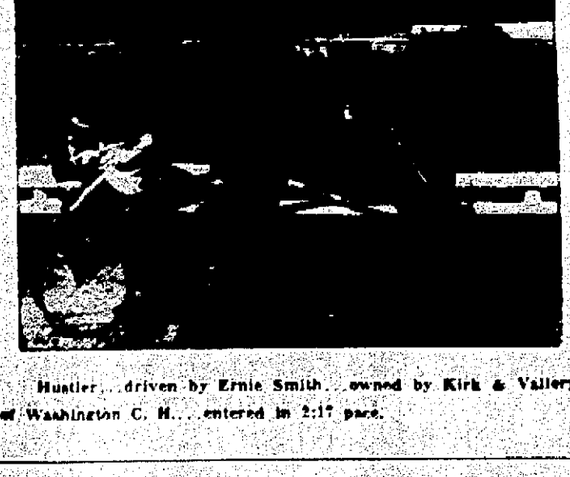

The Marion meeting is re is a homecoming for Groves 1926 he was employed a Houghton Silky Co. For years he has been a special respondent for turf publica At one time he was secreta the North Randall track Cleveland. For the last four he has been presiding jud the Ohio state fair.

Assisting Groves will be H. Hartman of Quakertown associate judge. Hartman is ly established in Ohio racin cles and for the last four has officiated at the M county fair meet.

Schedule for Wednesday's augural program includes tha pace and the 2:24 and three-old trots. Deadline for nom tions for these races, all night events, was 10:30 a. m.

Steve Phillips, Xenia veteran, to start local meeting.

Hustler, driven by Ernie Smith, owned by Kirk & Vallery of Washington C. H., entered in 2:17 pace.

Cleveland Slaughters Chicago, 11 to 5, in Opening Windy City Serie

Tribe To Start Bagby in Game Tonight; Weatherly Benched by Injury.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 30.—Having fattened up their batting averages on three Chicago pitchers in the opening game of the Windy City series, the Cleveland Indians drew hard luck Ed Smith for an opponent under the lights tonight.

The Redskins won yesterday's bang-fest 11 to 5. The victory also advanced the Tribe a half game on their first division rivals, who were idle.

Manager Lou Boudreau picked Jim Bagby to pitch for Cleveland on the theory that the big right-hander has been ineffective recently because of lack of work.

Roy Weatherly, who slammed a triple and two singles yesterday, was injured in a collision at the plate with Catcher Tom Turner in the eighth. Boudreau said X-rays indicated Stormy would be out with a wrenched left knee for several days. Buster Mills was scheduled to start tonight anyway because Smith is a left-hander, Weatherly's weakness.

Milnar Gets Bad Start

Chicago started the scoring by jumping on Al Milnar for two runs in the first inning and one tally in each of the next three frames, but then the veteran hurler steadied and allowed no hits in the last four innings.

Cleveland tallied two in the third, one in the fourth and tied it up at 5-all in the fifth. They broke the tie with one run in the seventh, but the eighth netted four runs on triples by Milnar and Weatherly, two singles, two walks and a sacrifice. The final marker was in the ninth on a double, a sacrifice and an infield out.

Lee Durocher, chief of the Babbling Brooks, earned the nickname of the all-American out during his sojourn as a player in the American league but he is just plain "out" as boss of the Dodgers until Thursday.

Gets $50 Fine

The Brooklyn mouthpiece has been fined $50 and suspended for three days by President Ford Frick of the National league for his run-in with the umpires Sunday.

But he was within whispering distance at Philadelphia last night as the Brooklyn pasted another half game to their National league lead.

Seated only 10 feet from the Dodger bench in a private box, he squirmed loudly until his charges came through with a six-run outburst in the ninth inning to quell the Philadelphia Phils 10 to 3.

In that frame the Dodgers batted all the way around to make sure that Ed Head, their rookie hurler was successful in his fifth attempt to win his sixth game of the season.

The triumph lifted the Dodgers nine and a half games ahead of the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

Cleveland's First Sacker Near Top in Batting Race

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30.—Les Fleming, the spudgy young man from Nashville who inherited the Cleveland first base job, is the hottest thing in major league baseball right now.

Fleming climbed 16 points last week to become the greatest threat to the continued reign of Joe Gordon, New York Yankees, as the leading batter in the American league.

While Gordon slipped from .367 to .363, Fleming rapped 12 hits in 18 official trips to the plate for an astounding average of .667 for the week. That barrage lifted him from fourth in the league race to second with a .346 figure.

The Brooklyn pair of Pete Reiser, center fielder, and Joe Medwick, left fielder, continued to dominate the National league although both fell off their previous pace.

Reiser, boasting an average of .350 a week ago, remains on top with .347 while Medwick holds second with .335.

Ernie Lombardi, Boston catcher, and Stan Musial, rookie outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, both showed big gains for the week, the former climbing to .325 and the latter to .320.

Springfield Team Snaps Charleston Win Streak

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 30.—Springfield's Mid-Atlantic league Cardinals "dood it."

They won a 2-1 victory over Charleston's Senators in the tenth inning last night snapping the league leaders' winning streak at nine games.

Although outhit 6 to 5 the Cardinals manufactured a run out of a Senator error, a bunt and a sacrifice fly for their margin of victory after tying Charleston's first-inning run in the third.

Dayton blanked second place Erie 2-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Lefty Arnold Reickert at Erie.

Canton edged last place Zanesville 5-4 at Canton.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO—Nate Bolden, 164½, Chicago, knocked out Jimmy Reeves, 153½, Cleveland (7).

NEWARK—Norman Rubio, 146½, Albany, N. Y., outpointed Fritzie Zivic, 149½, Pittsburgh (10).

PITTSBURGH—Ezzard Charles, 160, Cincinnati, outpointed Charles Hurley, 151, Minneapolis (10).

H. driver, has been training a string at the local track for several days in preparation for local meet and the county fair circuit which follows. Coca-Cola Notches Seventh Commercial League Victory

Downs Waldo Independents To Retain Softball Loop Lead; Hunkin-Conkey No. 1 Wins.

Cozzie Weiss, perennial Marion pitching genius, allowed the Waldo Independents only two hits last night at Garfield park as the league-leading Coca-Cola team overpowered the down-county youths, 14-1, for its seventh straight Commercial league victory. Weiss set the Waldo batters down in order through eight innings, weakening in the ninth as Sims and Thomas hit safely. The defeat was Waldo's fourth in seven outings.

Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. No. 1 connected for 16 hits off the slants of Smith Clothing's Howard Gilbert to run up a 12-6 decision over the Clothiers at the Marion Steam Shovel diamond. J. Wright, who collected top batting honors on three singles in four trips to the plate, limited the losers to four hits.

A total of 31 base hits were registered as DeMolay disposed of the War Department, 15-10, at Lincoln park. Rissler and Cramer belted two-run homers for the winners.

Tony Caprino of the Moose lodge and Cockrell of the Senior Hi-Y hooked up in a brilliant pitching duel at Presidents field with both pitchers giving only five hits, Moose finally won an 8-1 decision because of loose play in the Hi-Y infield.

Detroit Official Proposes To Cut Baseball Schedule

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 30—The Detroit Tigers came to bat today with proposals that the baseball season of 1943 be reduced by two months and the southern spring training program be abandoned.

Offering each as a war measure, General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers said he would present his ideas to the annual midsummer meeting of the American league club owners in New York, July 6.

One dovetails into the other, Zeller said, with the spring training to be carried on in the park at home during the period which now constitutes the first month of the playing schedule. Under Zeller's plan, the season also would finish a month earlier.

Zeller said he proposed elimi-

Manager Gabby Hartnett got out his best scolding words today to avoid another comedy of errors his Indianapolis boys staged last night.

After reaching the .500 mark in the American Association standings for the first time since early season, the Tribe committed seven errors as Milwaukee paraded to a 12-5 victory.

Columbus ran up its 11th victory in 14 current home games by licking St. Paul, 7 to 2. The turning point came in the sixth when Pinch-Hitter Augie Bergamo doubled with the bases filled to score three runners. The Saint's two runs in the first frame were unearned.

League-leading Kansas City was edged out by Louisville, 4-3, in an 11-inning game.

MARION GETS NEW DIRECTORY

32,500 Population Estimate Listed for 1942, Gain Over 1940 Figure.

The Marion city population estimate for 1942 is 32,500, as against the 1940 census of 30,817, according to the new city directory. Distribution of approximately 500 copies started today.

Ninety-eight per cent of the city's residents are American-born, directory statistics show, with German and Italian nationalities predominating among the foreign born.

The 1942 edition, first in two years, does not overlook Marion men in armed forces. It lists each service man's name and local address, followed by "USA," "USN" or other designation.

The new volume of Polk's Marion City directory is a 582-page volume, 16 pages larger than the 1940 edition. It lists 25,552 names in Marion city and county, with 18 continued as the minimum listing age. The population estimate was made on a basis of two and one half persons per home.

Special features are the designation of tenant-owned homes, marital status and heads of households, listing of given names of wives and a numerical telephone guide.

Compiling of the directory material, completed on Feb. 15, revealed that the city has 315 varieties of business, ranging from accountants to dealers in woolen goods.

Despite the shortage of paper and other publishing materials due to the war, the publishers will make the customary distribution of the directory to the free reference libraries of other cities, since the demand for out-of-town directory service is greater in wartime than in peace.

the domination of three strong foreign powers.

We may note in passing that Professor R has not specified whether the destruction of Switzerland is to be done by American troops, or whether we are to incite German, Italian and French troops to do the political murder for us. In any event Switzerland is to be murdered.

We are now no longer astonished at anything that Professor R may propose. Portugal, which has been an independent state for seven centuries, must die, says the professor, because he likes only big, strong states. Belgium, too, must die, and the carcass of the Belgian nation is then to be devoured by France, Germany and the Netherlands.

For the Netherlands, Professor R in his fine scientific geographical spirit has conceived a more subtly refined and masterly end. Having invited it to commit cannibalism on Belgium and insuring it the everlasting hatred of the Belgians, Professor R wishes the Netherlands to incorporate itself within the British Commonwealth of Nations and end its days in the enjoyment of "full dominion status."

Big States

His object is, as we have seen, to have Europe made up only of big, strong states. Therefore, Professor R proceeds to work out a plan by which Germany, which is already big and strong, may be made still bigger and stronger. Now Professor R is no Nazi. In fact he is different from the Nazis, as any one must see from his proposal to make a somewhat bigger Pan-Germany than the Nazis used to claim.

Thus, in addition to most of Switzerland, Professor gives to Pan-Germany Alsace-Lorraine, Luxemburg, some of Belgium, some of the Netherlands, all the Sudetenland, a large part of Poland, all of Austria, all of Hungary and a good fat slice of Rumania. Professor R seems to feel that if the United Nations defeat Hitler they may be able to compel the Germans to accept the responsibility of becoming the biggest and strongest of the big strong nations of Europe.

Italy makes an equally fat profit out of the war which Professor R says we are fighting for democracy and to prevent aggression. As a reward for having been defeated, Professor R gives Italy the whole coast of Dalmatia and most of the coast of Albania, a cut out of Switzerland, a bite of France, Corsica, most of Tunis, Malta and a greatly enlarged Libya.

On his ruling principle that the strong should devour the weak, France does badly as against Germany and Italy. France also loses Calais to England. But against smaller states France does very well indeed. Professor R gives France a cut of Belgium, Switzerland and Spain, thus making it certain that France will be hated by all her smaller neighbors and that France will hate all her large neighbors.

That will do for the present as evidence that Professor Renner is a case worth some more study, and so in the next installment of this fascinating story (which, being a serial, enables me to take a few days' vacation) we must try to find out how Professor R got to be the way he is.

CORRECTION

Through an error, the photograph of Mrs. J. A. Dodd, president of the Women's Board of the Marion City Hospital, appearing in yesterday's Star, carried a line listing the picture as having been made at the Hughes studio. The photograph should have carried a line crediting it to Stein's Studio.

LANDING PLACES, TARGETS OF NAZI SPIES

Nazi saboteurs, landed on Long Island and Florida beaches by submarine direct from Germany, had their targets well selected. The submarines lying off the two coastal points show where the men were landed. Targets of the saboteurs are marked with black dots in circles.

PLAN U. S. SUBSIDIES TO AID BUSINESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30 — A plan for vast federal business subsidies to block a threatened break-through in price ceilings has been recommended to congressional leaders by high-ranking government officials.

Informed sources said today that Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard had suggested informally a scheme built around government purchase of farm products and other raw materials which would be resold—at a loss—to businesses "squeezed" between frozen wholesale and retail prices.

Thus, it was said, a retailer who could not raise his prices to compensate for higher wholesale charges could continue in business without breaking through price ceilings.

One adviser to President Roosevelt said "one guess" was that such a program would cost the government between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000.

This development came as both the senate and house faced badly jammed calendars on the last day of the fiscal year, with legislative action incomplete on numerous appropriation bills which must be completed by midnight if affected departments are to have funds to operate with tomorrow.

Night sessions were in prospect for both chambers.

Nazis Say Inner Defenses Penetrated

By The Associated Press

BERLIN (FROM GERMAN BROADCASTS) June 30—German forces have penetrated the inner defensive ring of Sevastopol, the German high command reported today.

The penetration was made to the east of the town by German forces which attacked from the north and crossed Sewernaja bay, "in the face of stubborn enemy resistance," a communique said.

(Official Russian reports from the beleaguered Crimean naval base said the Germans had been beaten back in two days of attack on an unspecified part of the front and actually had lost ground.)

This was the second report of major progress against Sevastopol's rugged defenses in two days, and German military sources predicted the fall of the Soviet fortress "will probably now be a matter of only a short time."

Neighbor Held in Fatal Shooting at Ironton

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., June 30 — Bill Ravencraft, 21, shot in the head and neck with a .44 calibre rifle, died early today. A 48-year-old neighbor was held pending investigation.

Ravencraft's sister, Anna, 24, said Ravencraft was enroute to church last night when the neighbor refused to let him pass his house. The shooting followed.

Ravencraft lived in the Yellow Branch community on the edge of Ironton.

200 Couples Attend Lions Benefit Dance

Approximately 200 couples attended the benefit dance staged at the Hy-Way Rollarena Saturday night by the Lions club. In keeping with the club's policy of holding only one benefit a year, the members elected to sponsor a dance this year instead of repealing the 1941 bazaar. Proceeds of the annual benefit are used by the club to carry on its local work of aiding the blind.

Howdy Gorman and his orchestra played for dancing. Arrangements were in charge of a committee composed of Bert Brashares, Carl Burchfield, Robert Cunningham and Cecil Baldauf. A complete checkup on the sale of tickets has not been made.

JAP ARMIES GAIN NEW CHINESE GROUND

By The Associated Press

Fighting in a torrential rainstorm, Japan's invasion armies were reported in a Tokyo broadcast to have gained another 20 miles in a two-way drive along the vital Chekiang-Kiangsi railway in eastern China today.

The broadcast said that three Chinese armies—the 26th, 49th and 74th—were retreating southward from the Chinese-held strip of the railway and that Japanese spearheads now were only about 30 miles apart.

A Chinese army spokesman said the invaders were still 50 miles apart, but implied that a new phase of the battle was about to start.

Commenting that it was difficult to predict what the Japanese would do next, the spokesman said possibly they would try to invade coastal Fukien province in a further attempt to eliminate air bases from which Japan could be bombed.

The spokesman said fighting northward on the Shansi-Honan border was "very complicated," with three Japanese columns attacking the Chinese from Shansi and three from Honan.

GALION — Jack Gay, retiring president of the Galion Rotary club turned over the gavel to the new president, Byron Lemley, when the Rotarians met Monday noon at the hotel. Prior to the presentation of the gavel Gay spoke to the club on the subject of "What the Rotary has meant to me."

Ordnance Plant Office Moving To Be Finished Soon

The four groups of office personnel connected with the Scioto Ordnance Plant are rapidly shifting their activities from downtown headquarters to buildings on the ordnance plant property.

Holabird & Root, architect-engineers for the project, and the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., builders, already are quartered at the site.

The U. S. Rubber Co., which will operate the plant for the war department, is now moving to the area, and probably will have the bulk of its personnel there by the end of this week.

The army engineers, headed by Major Robert Lockridge, are moving from rooms above the U. S. Employment Service office to the ordnance plant area this week.

One of the last groups to move will be the acting commanding officer, Major John Sears, and his assistants, now located in the Citizens' building. Major Sears said he hoped to have the relocation of his office to the site completed by the end of next week.

New Officers Come from Training Centers

Both of the two second lieutenants added this week to the personnel of the army ordnance department at the Scioto Ordnance Plant have backgrounds of college training, R.O.T.C. training in college and of recent training in military affairs at army centers.

Before coming to the Scioto Ordnance Plant both spent brief periods at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland and at Picatinny Arsenal at Dover, N. J.

Lieut. John W. Hull, 35, is a native of Iowa and obtained his college training at Iowa State college where he was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in ceramic engineering. He worked for a number of private industrial concerns before coming to the Scioto Ordnance Plant. His tentative assignment is army inspector of ordnance. He and Mrs. Hull and their two children plan to make their home here at 308 Willow street.

Lieut. Powell Whitfield, 33, is a native of Arkansas. He was graduated from the University of Arkansas, received his master's degree from Columbia and took other postgraduate work at the University of Arkansas and the University of Chicago. After teaching for a number of years, he became training supervisor at the Arkansas Ordnance Plant.

He and Mrs. Whitfield plan to make their home here at 242 East Columbia street. Lieut. Whitfield's tentative assignment is plant protection officer.

Nazis Order French Hostages Deported

By The Associated Press

VICHY, UNOCCUPIED FRANCE, June 30—German authorities in occupied France ordered today immediate deportation of 50 hostages following an anti-Nazi attack and sabotage and threatened to send another 50 away if those responsible for a list of anti-Nazi activities were not caught by July 7.

Those deported were taken from among hostages in the Pas De Calais department, where the Nazi announcement said "during the past nights a considerable number of telegraph and telephone wires, railway signals installations and signposts were destroyed in numerous townships, besides a dynamite attack against a railroad line."

German Chutists Drop in Turkish Territory

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 30—Two German parachutists, each equipped with a two-way radio set, were arrested by Turkish authorities three weeks ago on the Caucasian border, Reuters reported today in an Ankara dispatch.

The men spoke perfect Russian and were dressed as Caucasian peasants. It was believed that the pilot had intended dropping his passengers behind the Russian lines for an espionage mission but had mistaken his position and let them jump while they were over Turkish territory.

HEAVY RAF FORCE AGAIN HITS BREMEN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 30—Bremen, Germany's second port and submarine base, was "heavily bombed" last night, the third attack there in five nights, the air ministry announced today.

"Last night a strong force of our bombers was over northwest Germany," an air ministry communique said. "Bremen, their main objective, was heavily bombed."

The use of the term "strong force" was taken to indicate that some 300 planes probably were employed in the attack, the 97th of the war on the port which was still smoking from the two latest previous raids.

Airfields in German-occupied territory also were attacked and fighters "on intruder patrol" attacked railway targets in France and shipping off the French coast.

The air ministry said nine bombers were missing from the night's operations.

Last Thursday night Bremen was the main objective of a force of more than 1,000 bombers.

Paper Out on Time, But Publisher Dies

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 30—Francis L. Olds, 47, died today—because, friends said, he scorned an illness until he made certain his weekly newspaper was published on time.

Olds, owner of the Geauga Leader at Burton, O., and of the Middlefield (O.) Times, died in Lakeside hospital here at 3 a. m. Geauga county friends said he was stricken with an appendicitis attack about ten days ago, but refused to go to a hospital until the Geauga Leader met its deadline.

As a result, his appendix burst. Olds, who took over the paper from his father, the late Harold J. Olds, had published it on time for 18½ years and wanted to extend his record to 25 years.

SENATE VOTES HUGE ARMY SUPPLY BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—With only 31 minutes of discussion, the senate passed and returned to the house today a $42,820,000,000 army supply bill, largest appropriations measure ever submitted to congress.

After a one-day delay forced by objections to consideration yesterday, the senate approved the bill with only a minor amendment prohibiting the carrying of advertising by army camp newspapers. The house was expected to agree speedily to this change and send the measure to President Roosevelt.

The senate also adopted today a conference report on a bill appropriating $280,000,000 for the works projects administration during the next fiscal year.

This bill, it is estimated, will take care of 400,000 on the WPA rolls during the next year. It now goes to the White House for the President's approval.

Doctors, Dentists Urged To Enlist as Officers

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30—The army today advised Ohio physicians and dentists under 45 years of age to enlist forthwith and receive commissions or face reclassification by their draft boards and induction as privates.

More than a hundred local physicians and dentists meeting here today were advised by Major H. S. Perry and Capt. Clarence E. Northrup that Ohio must furnish about 2,500 physicians by the end of July. Five thousand would be needed to meet the quota for the fifth corps area they said.

Capt. Northrup said every physician under 45 years of age and physically fit could figure that he "would be in the army some time."

Seven Ship Sinkings Boosts Total to 324

S. freighter were announced by the navy yesterday as having been sunk recently, while the sinking of three American merchant ships was disclosed Sunday.

Announced eastern Pacific merchant vessel sinkings since the war began remained at eight.

MARKET LACKS RISING FUEL

Only Few Issues Able To Keep Recovery Fires Burning Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30 — While selected stocks managed to keep recovery fires burning in today's market, many leaders seemingly ran out of rising fuel.

The buoyant rails of Monday reverted to apathy.

Among prominent early shares laggards were Chrysler, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft and DuPont.

Santa Fe was resistant, along with Standard Oil (N. J.), N. Y. Central, Westinghouse, American Can and Owens-Illinois.

Wall Street observers suggested the recent somewhat improved demand for securities might stem partly from seasonal factors.

GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES MOVE HIGHER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 30 — Grain prices and soybeans worked higher today as a recent pressure against July contracts eased up and short sellers came back into the market on the buying side.

Improved milling demand for flour in the east, where large chain bakers were reported to have purchased 100,000 barrels of flour yesterday, contributed to the better sentiment.

Florida Morning Paper Suspends for Duration

By The Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 30 —The Florida State News, Tallahassee's morning daily newspaper, suspended publication with today's issue "for the duration of the war."

John Tapers, publisher, said the paper had sustained heavy losses during the two years he has published it and that "the advent of the war provided the finishing toch to our aspirations.

"Decreasing revenues and increased cost have created a burden which is not justifiable and we have no other recourse than to suspend publication," he said.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY had not remembered my father's injunction, I could see by the startled and disappointed look in her eyes. I knew she was anxious to get back to Noel, but we both realized that my father's request was tantamount to a command.

"I honestly had forgotten," she said. "How soon do you think he will be here, and have you any idea what he wants?"

"He hasn't told me," I said, "but I imagine he wants to give you fresh instructions concerning Stephen—some for yourself and some that you can relay to Olin. And I'll find out immediately how soon he will be here."

I picked up the telephone and asked for my father's apartment, wondering whether the telephone operator was one of the espionage ring under the direction of the Lansfield's manager, Mr. Milner.

Calls Spencer

One comforting reflection accompanied my speculation. It would not be long before Mr. Milner ceased being manager of the Lansfield; manager, indeed, of anything, save, what he could manage from a prison cell.

"Father?" I inquired, and his answering "Yes" was promptly followed by the words "I have been expecting your call." That formula, which I know well, means: be guarded in what you say.

"Are you coming over to say good-night to me?" I asked in saccharine tones.

"I'll be right over," he said. Then I turned to Mary.

"I'll try to induce him to make this interview as short as possible," I said so I'll see him first alone. Remember that you're terribly fatigued."

"Really I'm about all in," she said.

Will Intercede

"I know you are," I agreed, "and I'm going to do the best I can for you. Now I'll shut you in the bedroom while I try to find out what he wants and to win a fairly swift dismissal for you."

"Good hunting!" she said as she turned toward the bedroom door, "also happy landings! I'll probably be sound asleep on your bed by the time you have the chief eating out of your hand."

She turned at the threshold to give me a parting fairy wave of her hand. Then I ranged up and down my living room, too restless to sit still. I knew also that it would be only a minute or two before my father came.

When he came in I noted with relief an indefinable air of hurry about him. So I knew I would not have to intercede for Mary; his interview with her would be very brief.

"Is Mary not here?" he asked impatiently before I had a chance to explain.

"She is in the bedroom," I told him.

"Then will you please change places with her?" he said. "It will be only for a short interval. Then I will call you and she can go on over to her own apartment, for I have some things to explain to you."

In my bedroom I found Mary pacing the floor, even as I had done.

"I suppose he wants me?" she said.

"Yes; but I have good news for you. He is in a tremendous hurry, and I imagine your interview with him will be very brief."

"That's the best news I've had in a month," Mary said as she turned toward the door, "but I'd give a month's pay to know what he wants of me."

UNDER BLANKETS

MIDLAND ARMY FLYING SCHOOL, Tex.—The aerial torpedoes used by the army air forces are not like the traditional navy weapon, according to officers at this world's largest bombardier college. The AAF use the aerial torpedoes against both land and sea targets where low cloud blankets prevent effective aiming of large demolition bombs from high altitudes.
